FALL RIVER MILLS GRANT INCREASE.

Advance of Ten Per Cent in Wages Given Operatives.

Numerous Establishments Outside the City May Follow Action.

FALL RIVER, Mass., March 22.—An advance of 10 per cent in wages March 25 was offered to the operatives' union by the Fall River Cotton Manufacturers' Association this afternoon, and as assurances have been given the increase will be accepted there will no general strike next Monday. The advance of 10 per cent is the same as that granted by M. C. D. Borden, owner of the seven mills of the Fall River Iron Works Company, Wednesday.

About 30,000 operatives in more than 100 print cloth mills, controlled by 35 manufacturers, will participate in the higher wage schedule in this city, and if the yarn, thread and quilt mills follow the action of the print cloth mill owners about 35,000 persons in Fall River will benefit. The substitution of a 10 per cent advance for the 5 per cent increase originally offered is expected to be paid by numerous establishments outside of Fall River, as frequent inquiries have been made here as to the probable scale which would be decided upon.

The Textile Council and the various unions have been summoned to meet tonight and following their acceptance of the 10 per cent increase the manufacturers will post notices in all the mills, probably tomorrow. News of the manufacturers' offer did not become generally known among the operatives until they had returned to work after the noon hour, but the intelligence circulated rapidly among business men and there was general rejoicing that a great industrial struggle had been averted.

A conference was held during the middle of the day between the executive committee of manufacturers, headed by President Hills, and the executive committee of the Textile Council, of which James Tansey is president. At the conclusion of the conference Secretary Thomas Taylor of the Textile Council made public the following statement:

"A conference was held today between the executive committees of the Manufacturers' Association and the executive committee of the Textile Council to discuss the wage situation. The manufacturers' committee repeated their inability to comply with the request of the Textile Council for an advance in wages of 15 per cent., but after some deliberation made an offer to advance wages 10 per cent. This proposition will be brought before the Textile Council at 7:15 o'clock tonight and considered at the general meetings at 8 o'clock."

Another development of interest today was the announcement that Mr. Borden had advanced the price of the products of the American Printing Company's works here, which he owns, to 5¼ cents a yard. The advance will become effective next Tuesday, and is expected to influence the prices of print cloths in the mills here. The advance was in a measure foreshadowed by Mr. Borden's raise of 10 per cent in wages.

No element in the city, whether among the mill owners, operatives or business men was prepared to stand a protracted strike and all interested were hopeful that an industrial struggle would be averted. Fall River is almost wholy dependent upon a single industry, the manufacture of print cloths and during the past three years dull market for goods, the high cost of cotton and consequent drastic curtailment have cost the city heavily. For this reason no element was prepared to force a general stoppage of machinery and especially when the industry is showing pronounced signs of revival.

A 10 per cent advance will increase the wage basis from 19.66 cents to 21.62 cents per cut for weaving regulars. For the operatives of the Fall River Iron Works, with a full complement of 6,000 operatives working, it will mean $3,500 additional wages a week. For all the mills figuring on a full force of about 35,000 operatives employed, it will mean over $27,000 and addition a week in wages. There is at present a shortage of operatives varying from 10 to 15 per cent.

Manufacturers outside all over New England have been following the wage movement here very closely, as has been evident from their frequent inquiries. There is little question among the mill managers and owners here but that a 10 per cent advance in wages will be made by cotton manufacturers throughout the rest of New England.

The mills represented in the Fall River Manufacturers' Association employ nearly 25,000 persons. The Fall River Iron Works have 6,000 more and in thread, yarn, quilt and gingham mills there are nearly 7,000 additional operatives when help and orders are plentiful. The non-association mills usually follow any action on the wage question taken by the print cloth establishments.

MILLS FACE A LABOR CRISIS.

New Bedford Operatives Dissatisfied With Five Per Cent Increase.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., March 22.—The second advance of five per cent in the wages of the Fall River mill operatives makes the labor situation in this city extremely acute. Officials of the textile unions here declare that it means that the manufacturers of this city must make some concessions or a strike will follow.

Notices of five per cent advances to go into effect next Monday have been posted in the mills represented in the Manufacturers' Association, in accordance with the offer recently made by the manufacturers in the association. The operatives, through the Textile Council, have insisted, however, that this is not sufficient and now that Fall River mill men have conceded the second advance, the mills of this city face a labor crisis.

AN INDEFINITE INCREASE.

United States Cotton Company, Central Falls, Advances Wages.

CENTRAL FALLS, March 22.—Announcement of an indefinite increase in wages was announced today by the United States Cotton Company. The mill employs about 500 operatives.

BEECKMAN BILL PASSED, 32 TO 3.

Senate Approves the Measure as It Was Reported.

Champlin Amendment Would Have Made It Inoperative.

[Special despatch to The News.]

PROVIDENCE, March 22.—The Beeckman workmen's compensation act was the feature of the senate proceedings today and the arguments were long drawn out. The bill was finally passed, 32 to 3, without amendment, Champlin of Block Island, Winsor of Foster and Bowen of Scituate being the three opposing votes. Senator Champlin of Block Island offered the most damaging amendment, which would make the proceeding a sort of charity instead of a legal necessity. An act permitting cities and towns to name localities and compelling railroads to use the local names instead of something of their own selection was introduced. In the house considerable matter was reported back from committees a few new bills were introduced and one or two passed.

In the senate the Beeckman act was the last business taken up, being on the calendar for today. The bill as reported was read in full, Senator Jones of the committee on judiciary explained it and moved its passage without amendment. Senator Munroe of Providence made some comparisons between it and the bill he introduced, and Senator Champlin proposed to amend by making the provisions of the act elective with employers as well as employes. This would make the entire bill inactive as to its intended purpose.

Senator Munroe of Providence introduced an act giving city and town councils the right to name localities within their jurisdiction and making it encumbent upon the railroad companies to recognize these places by the name officially given them, under a penalty of a fine of $1 for every day they fail thus to recognize a station on their lines. Judiciary committee.

He also presented a petition of theatrical mechanics against the passage of the Sunday concert act. Two other petitions to the same end were presented and also referred to the judiciary committee.

Senator Lunn of North Smithfield introduced a resolution adding to the state highway system in that town. Finance committee.

Governor Pothier announced the pardon of William Sanger, who is imprisoned for larceny, Committee on pardons.

In the house the finance committee reported back a resolution appropriating $3,000 for the maintenance of the state warship Aileen, $7,500 for a laundry, water and sewer at the School for Feeble-Minded at Exeter, and $28,000 for the Inland Fisheries Commission to pay back the money advanced last year to carry on their department.

The judiciary committee reported acts for the city of Providence—$50,000 worth of bonds for paving streets, the operation of playgrounds under a commission, a sinking fund board, bonds for $75,000 for the repair of the Dexter Asylum, an amendment to the city charter and provision for the establishment of a quarantine station. All were placed on the calendar.

Mr. Lussier of Woonsocket introduced an act exempting veterinary surgeons from jury duty. Judiciary committee.

Mr. Parkinson of Lincoln presented petitions of labor organizations for the passage of the 54-hour bill. Committee on special legislation.

Mr. McVay of Cumberland introduced an act for free transfers on the electric lines in that section. Special legislation committee.

Mr. O'Neill of Providence moved to have the judiciary committee relieved from further consideration of the bill on boxing under the supervision of a state commission. There was argument and the motion was lost by a vote of 52 to 32, some Republicans voting with the Democrats.

Mr. West suffered his daily defeat. From the calendar was taken the act providing for the advertising of expired oyster ground leases, which was passed.

Also, the resolution to pay Amanda Pierson $2,000 because of the death of her husband, killed at the State Normal School while in the performance of his duty. Dr. Read, the socialist, moved that the sum be advanced to $4,000. The act was thus amended and then it was voted to re-commit it.

Mr. Bushaw of Providence offered a resolution endorsing the national income tax amendment and asked for immediate consideration. This was refused and it went to the committee on special legislation.

DR. WALKER'S CONDITION.

Betterment League's Secretary Says She Passed a Very Bad Night.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Dr. Mary Walker's steadfast refusal to have any physician attend her during her serious illness here brought forth a statement today from Mrs. Nellie B. Van Slingerland, secretary of the Betterment League, who has been almost constantly at the bedside. The statement says that Dr. Walker spent a "very bad night" and continues, "As I am nearly collapsed myself, with the six sleepless nights and anxious, busy days, I have written two of Dr. Walker's women relatives that some one must come to share the responsibility. Dr. Mary refuses to let any one but myself and a Japanese servant to do anything for her, and the day and night vigils are beyond our physical endurance, hence I shall be forced to have assistance from some direction, even though it is against her emphatically expressed wishes, for her own good."

DOOR TO AN EARLY ENDING CLOSED.

Miners' Amendment to Minimum Wage Bill Refused.

Asquith Says Measure as Drawn Would be Dangerous to Workers.

LONDON, March 22.—Premier Asquith, in the House of Commons this afternoon, refused to accept the miners' amendment to the minimum wage bill, providing a minimum of $1.25 and 50 cents as the daily wage for men and boys, respectively.

Enoch Edwards, Labor member of Parliament and president of the Miners' Federation of Great Britain, immediately announced that the premier's rejection of the miners' amendment closed the door to an immediate settlement of the strike.

The government this evening renewed the peace negotiations with the British coal owners and the miners. Premier Asquith is trying to induce the coal owners to agree to pay the $1.25 and 50 cents minimum daily wages and is hoping that the men will be content with the promises of the employers without the inclusion of any figures in the minimum wage bill.

The House had just entered upon the committee stage of the minimum wage bill when the miners' amendment was moved, and Premier Asquith's pronouncement, the gravity of which was immediately recognized because it is certain to bring about another deadlock, caused a sensation among the members.

In opposing the miners' amendment the premier said that he was inclined to think the figures reasonable ones, but said that it was most undesirable to insert in the bill any specific minimum wage or to establish the precedent of fixing the rate of wages by act of Parliament. It would, he pointed out, be peculiarly dangerous to the men themselves, because if Parliament once expressed its judgment that $1.25 was a fair minimum wage, that sum would be bound to be treated as the maximum.

Enoch Edwards the miners' leader who seemed to be surprised at the government's action, declared that the decision announced by the premier has shattered his hopes that the final form of the bill would commend itself to the good sense of both sides. The refusal of the amendment meant the closure of the door, which yesterday appeared open to a settlement.

Andrew Bonar Law, the official leader of the opposition, sided with the government, which he said could not have taken any other course.

Despite the decision of the union there is already, particularly in Scotland, a steady trickling of the miners back to the pits. Even with a general resumption, however, the mines could not be in working order again before Easter and some of the smaller ones which have been flooded will never be re-opened.

In the meantime starvation stares the industrial population of the country in the face. The funds of the trades unions are running low and in some places this week's payment of out-of-work benefits will be the last.

At Burslem, in Staffordshire, one of the centres of the potteries district, 40,000 meals have been served by the vicar of the parish in the last 11 days, for which a small charge has been made. Now the people of the district are unable to bear the burden of paying even a penny for the meal and are compelled to fall back on charity.

In Wales and Scotland and in the industrial districts of England relief work has been started and soup kitchens have been established. There is scarcely a mining village in Scotland where the children are not being fed by the public authorities. In the English coal fields the people are better off, as the trades union funds are richer and will last much longer. The work of relieving the distress is getting beyond the means of the local charities and demands are now being made on the government to take it up. It is estimated that the miners thus far have lost in wages $26,408,850, besides the depletion of the union funds, which will make another strike in any trade practically impossible for the next 18 months.

Factories and works of all kinds all over the country continue to close down and all the railroads are reducing their services to the minimum. The food supply from abroad is also threatened. The bacon factories and creameries of Denmark which depend entirely on England for their coal, will soon have to discontinue their shipments to this country.

News comes today that one of the South American governments is commandering the stocks of coal on hand in its ports for naval purposes, which will prevent the shipment of meat to England. It is officially declared today that the Derbyshire pits will not be re-opened until the surface men's demands for increased wages have been complied with.

SUSPENSION APRIL 1 CERTAIN.

Anthracite Men Not Planning to Send Breakers to Coal Fields.

NEW YORK, March 22.—While the anthracite operators regard a suspension of work in the coal region April 1 as almost a certainty, they say that they are making no move toward engaging strike breakers to go to the coal fields. The railroad operators in a statement say the reports that the operators are now engaging outside labor against a possible suspension or strike have no foundation in fact. Retail dealers assert that their yards are bare of coal and that they are having difficulty in obtaining it.

A meeting of the railroad operators, it was understood, will be held here next week to consider the situation, but whether they will submit a counter proposition to the miners is problematical. The operators say they are ready to receive any new proposition from the miners at any time.

WAS IT A FAIR SALE?

Question for the Court to Decide in the Tiverton Farm Case.

Testimony for the Plaintiff and for the Defendant in the Sweeney-Brow Suit.

Judge Lee presiding, the Sweeney-Brow case occupied the afternoon in the superior court, Thursday. It asks for "specific performance." The place was 11 miles from Fall River, contained 100 acres, and was called "Beechwood Farm."

Mr. Gray was re-called and asked about a conversation by telephone with Charles E. Lawton of Dartmouth. He did not remember saying the place was a gilt-edge investment and he considered it worth $15,000. Did not say there was a limit of $12,000. Then Mr. Greenlaw went into articles sold—an ice chest, a steam cream separator. Witness said the separator was sold for $12.

A. Lincoln Hambly, town clerk of Tiverton, testified. William Andrews was a licensed auctioneer at the time in question. The court said a sale by one not a legal auctioneer is a perfectly valid sale. The town records show (a bundle of copies of deeds was produced) that Mr. Brow's name appears in connection with but one place —"Beechwood Farm." Formerly it was called the Potter farm; before that, the south Bateman farm. There was no cross-examination.

William N. MacCartney of Fall River, clerk in the Wilbur house, testified. He went with Mr. Gray and took an inventory of the property. Saw Mr. Brow there, talking with Mr. Gray. Was clerk of the sale and kept the book. Mr. Gildard took the money.

Michael Sweeney, treasurer of the Fall River Globe Company, etc., testified. He arrived at the sale about 10:20. Met Mr. Gray. Mr. Gray showed part of the house and introduced witness to Mrs. Brow. They went out to see the boundary of the farm. Did not know Mr. Brow. Witness stood west of the platform wagon from which the sale was conducted. Witness let it go a while before bidding. Witness's last bid was $5800. Mr. Gray tried to induce the old gentleman (Mr. Lewis) to bid higher, and a young man tried also. The old gentleman refused. It was at least 20 minutes after bidding began before the farm was knocked down.

Witness paid the deposit to Mr. Gildard, not over an hour from that time. (Showed cancelled check for $800 endorsed by L. S. Gray, cancelled and paid). Received a receipt (it also was placed in evidence). The other property on the farm was being sold at the time he paid and received the receipt.

Heard Mr. Gray, at the opening of the sale, speak of the beauty of the farm and its large cost; and that the crops, etc., went with the farm; that the house had hardwood finish, and 160 feet of piazza; the cow barn was very modern etc. Ten per cent of the purchase price was to be paid down, the balance in 20 days; if the purchaser wished to pay and take the deed in four days, that could be done.

After the farm was knocked down Mr. Brow came up and shook hands with witness and said he was glad he had brought the farm; he had another farm which he leased and he would like to lease that to witness. Later he asked witness: "Will you buying sus if this other stuff?" He also called the attention of witness to the machinery on the farm.

Saturday, witness went to the farm again and met Mr. Gray. Sunday went again. Saw Mr. Brow there. Mr. Brow said: "You couldn't be in any hurry about looking up the title of this place, I'm not satisfied." Then he complained about the sale of the stock, and said Gray had not done right about that. Witness told him the horses were sold for good prices. Mr. Brow said he didn't want witness to suffer. Witness said, "I'm going to suffer", and said if the deed was not forthcoming he would know why. Saw him and had another talk the next Sunday, and said if he was going to have that farm it was time to attend to the crops. Witness never harvested any crops or received anything for them.

Later witness went to Providence, saw Mr. Brow and tendered him (within the specified time). $5820, which was refused. In August he went again, prepared to offer the money, but was told Mr. Brow was out of town. Witness is, and always has been, ready and willing to take the farm and pay for it.

After a recess, Mr. Sweeney began his cross-examination. It proved to be brief, and plaintiff rested.

Charles E. Lawton of Westport Factory was the first witness for defendant. He called up Mr. Gray, by telephone, and was told the place was gilt-edged and there was a limit of $12,000.

In cross-examination witness said he sent his boy to talk with Mr. Gray about the farm previous to telephoning. Reported the telephone message to unnecessary by the name of Lewis. George W. Lewis was present while witness telephoned; it was for Mr. Lewis that he did it. It was the day before the sale. Mr. Gray answered the telephone himself. Had not spoken with him for some years. Could not recall speaking with him for 21 years. Recognized his voice on the telephone.

Walter C. Nye, 12 years cashier of the United National Bank, Providence, testified. He saw Mr. Gray in Mr. Brow's office. Heard Mr. Gray say he had made no record or writing of the sale of the property other than what was on the paper shown, and had given no writing to anybody. He observed that there was nothing asked in this transaction.

In cross-examination witness said Mr. Brow has an office in connection with the National Machine Company. Witness was called there by special request. He, Brow, Mr. Greenlaw and Mrs. Gowdy were there. Witness could not state who summoned him, or just when it was. Mr. Brow is a large depositor in witness's bank. Witness is not in the habit of being asked to go on certain business. Never had any such request before or since. It did not seem strange.

Cannot remember what was said when he went in. Mr. Gray was not there when witness arrived. Had been asked to go to hear what was said. Did not hear Mr. Sweeney's name mentioned. Did not hear Mr. Brow say he was dissatisfied. They went into another room and witness went out. Mr. Gray was asked for a memorandum or record of the sale. Mrs. Gowdy is employed there. Witness made no memorandum. There was no mention of "price" at all.

Amy Frances Gowdy, bookkeeper for the National Machinery Company, testified. She heard Mr. Gray say that was the only record, that there was no other writing, and no writing had been given. Mr. Brow is treasurer of the company and Mr. Nye's brother is the president.

Christopher Gildard of Swansea testified. He was at the sale. Met Mr. Brow after it. "Wait, wait," said

SOLUBLE POTASH SALTS.

A Valuable Discovery Made in Mojave Desert, Southern California.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—A valuable discovery of soluble potash salts has been made in the Mojave desert, southern California, by field representatives of the bureau of soils and the geological survey. The potash was found in a partially dried up lake. The government experts who found it declare there are indications of millions of tons of potash.

Director Smith of the geological survey and Chief Whitney of the bureau of soils today received word of the discovery and wired for details.

"The government bureau for some time had sought throughout the country for potash, feeling certain a supply would be found. At present the United States and other nations are almost entirely dependent upon Germany for potash. Disagreement between the German "potash trust" and American buyers became the subject of diplomatic exchanges which occupied several years, and at one time threatened serious complications.

FOR GOVERNOR MARSHALL.

Indiana Democratic Convention Instructs Its Delegates.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 21.—"Governor Thomas R. Marshall for President, first last and all the time," was the slogan adopted today by the Democratic state convention in its instructions to the 30 delegates who will represent the State at the national convention. The recommendation of the committee was adopted by the gathering with a roar of cheers. Governor Marshall, who called the convention to order as temporary chairman, was wildly cheered when he concluded his address.

The platform in its leading plank denounces the "protective tariff system, as inflicted on the country by the Payne-Aldrich act, which, through the artifical prices it fosters, has carried deprivation into millions of homes and tended to produce conditions of unmerited opulence and undeserved poverty." To correct tariff abuses, "application is demanded of the principle that custom house taxation shall be limited to the actual necessities of the government." The action of the House of Representatives in passing the Sherwood pension bill is endorsed.

THE OLD WOOL BILL.

Democrats on the House Committee Present It Again.

WASHINGTON, March 21.—The Democratic members of the ways and means committee determined today to re-introduce in the House the same wool tariff revision bill which was introduced last summer, and which after being revised in conference was vetoed by President Taft. The committee first considered a bill which would correspond to the conference report, but finally decided unanimously to introduce the bill, which puts a duty of 20 per cent on raw wool. Chairman Underwood dropped the bill into the basket as he entered the House this morning.

TO BE HELD IN THE FALL.

Contestants for Gordon Bennett Cup Unable to Meet in August.

CHICAGO, March 21.—Inability of the European contestants for the Gordon Bennett cup to make the trip to America for a competition as early as August 17 has made it necessary to postpone the race, together with the aviation meet under the auspices of the Aero Club of Illinois. These exhibitions were to have been held August 15 in conjunction with the water carnival and pageant. Word was received from five European countries entered for the big race that their meets would delay them beyond these dates. In consequence of this move the committee now plans to hold the races as late in the fall as is practical.

LADY CAROLINE CAMPBELL.

To The Editor of the Daily News:

Dear Sir: I hear there is a movement on foot in Charleston, S. C., to place a monument in that city to the memory of Lord William Campbell, the last royal governor of the province of South Carolina. Mr. Gustavus M. Middleton of Charleston has been in correspondence with the Duke of Argyle on the subject and the duke sends him the enclosed elegy on the death of Lady Caroline Campbell, daughter of the royal governor and Miss Sarah Izard of Charleston, his wife. Perhaps some of your readers may be sufficiently interested in the subject to warrant you printing the lines.

E. W. H.

Elegy on the death of Lady Caroline Campbell, daughter of the Right Honourable Lord William Campbell, last royal governor of South Carolina, who married Miss Sarah Izard of Charleston, S. C.

Since 'tis the will of all disposing Heaven
To seize the boon its kinder hand had given;
Whether on earth thy friendly spirit rove,
Midst the once happy partners of thy love
(Scenes where thy virtues reigned, thy talents shone,
And fond affection made each heart thy own);
Or, bounding swift, has winged its airy flight
To the pure regions of eternal light;
Look down, fair saint, and oh, with pity see,
Where said remembrance lifts each thought to thee;
Accept the heaving sigh, the trickling tear,
The last, best offerings of a heart sincere.
What though no costly hecatombs should bleed,
Nor lengthened train in sable pomp succeed;
Yet shall the sweetest flowers thy grave adorn,
Washed by the kindliest tears of dewy morn,
There shall each friend thy heavenly virtues made e
With pious dirge invoke thy gentle shade;
Like fragrant incense the soft breath shall rise
And smooth thy passage to thy kindred skies.
Severely kind, O! why did adverse fate
Grant such vast bounties, with so scant a date?
Give such sweet fragrance to this short-lived flower,
The virtues of an age to last an hour!
It gave her wit might grace a muse's tongue,
The charm of numbers, and the power of song;
Th' angelic touch to strike the trembling string,
And tune such notes as its own seraphs sing.
But oh! o'er-bounteous with that sacred art,
It gave each nicer movement of the heart;
And her soft breast, with strong sensation fired,
Felt the keen impulse which those arts inspired.
Too great a portion of celestial flame
Strained the frail texture of her weaker frame;
The subtle fire too powerful forced its way
Through the soft yielding mould of mortal clay.
As the clear air in crystal prison pent
Oft burst its fair but brittle tenement;
While in the dust the glittering fragments lie,
The purer aether gains its native sky,
Ere the stern sisters cut the vital thread
I saw, and kissed her on the fatal bed,
Just as her gentle spirit took its flight,
And her faint eyelids closed in endless night.
No strong convulsions shock her parting breath;
No tremors marked the cold approach of death,
Her heart still heaved with vital spirit warm,
And each soft feature wore its wonted charm,
Ah me! in this perplexing maze of fate,
This doubtful, erring, varying, restless state;
Though guilt with swelling sail state shall steer,
With pomp and pleasure crowned, its full career;
Though worth like thine no pitying power shall save
From sickness, pain and an untimely grave;
Yet stay, rash mortal, nor presume to scan,
By thy imperfect rule, th' Almighty's plan.
O, censure not his sovereign, high behest,
But prostrate own, whatever is, is best.
Judgment's the part of Heaven, submission thine;
We may lament, but we must not repine,
Each has his lot (for so does Heaven ordain),
His stated share of happiness and pains;
And mortals best fit just commands fulfill

MISS NEWBERRY ENGAGED TO A BRITISH ARMY OFFICER.

By cable from Hamilton, Bermuda, comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Carol Barnes Newberry, daughter of Mr. Truman H. Newberry of Detroit, one time Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Newberry, to Captain W. H. Alleyne, of the Queen's regiment, stationed in Bermuda. Miss Newberry, who with her mother has been on an excursion to Bermuda, met Captain Alleyne only last month. The wedding will take place in June.

Miss Newberry made her debut in Washington when her father was head of the Navy Department, and for the following two years was popular in the capital. In 1908 she christened battleship Michigan, when she was launched in Camden, N. J. Miss Newberry spent several summers with her parents at Watch Hill.

DEATH OF MRS. LAURA L. LA MONTAGNE.

Mrs. Laura Louise La Montagne, widow of Rene L. La Montagne, died Thursday from a complication of diseases at her country place at Far Rockaway. For many years Mr. and Mrs. La Montagne were prominent in society in New York and on Long Island and in the activities of the Rockaway Hunt Club. She was a daughter of the late Henry R. Morgan and a granddaughter of Charles Morgan, of steamship fame, and was married to Mr. La Montagne 32 years ago. He died in October, 1910. Mrs. La Montagne is survived by four sons, several of whom are well known polo players.

Bring Up the Children on Rockwood's Cocoa

Give them a fair start in life—make them healthy, sturdy and strong.

Food is the foundation of children's future health and happiness, and Cocoa is Nature's greatest food-beverage. Better for the little ones than milk, more satisfying and sustaining than meat or eggs.

And, now that a way has been found to remove the excessive oils, leaving only its pure, nourishing, health-giving qualities, Cocoa can be served to the youngest child without restriction or the least possibility of taxing the most delicate digestion.

Rockwood's Cocoa

"The healthful cocoa with the lighter color"

Dark color in Cocoa is due to the presence of heavy, insoluble oils which add nothing to the flavor or nourishing qualities and make it difficult for delicate stomachs to digest. The lighter color of Rockwood's shows that more of the heavy, darkening oil has been removed than from other Cocoas, and consequently proves its greater healthfulness.

"The oil of cocoa does not belong to the food fats, being different in constitution," says Dr. W. S. Hall of Northwestern University.

The wonderful food value of cocoa has been recognized from the earliest times. The only drawback to its unrestricted use has been this heretofore "unremovable" excess oil. Experts have worked on the problem from the beginning without success.

Finally, by a special process and by the aid of modern machinery, Rockwood solved the problem and gives to the world an absolutely pure cocoa, from which the insoluble oil has been removed without diminishing its nourishing qualities, its rich, delicate flavor or its delightful aroma.

Rockwood's is the first perfect Cocoa—perfect in food value, perfectly digestible and as delicious in flavor as the finest chocolate.

For young or old—for the delicate or the strong, for breakfast, supper or the hungry hours between—drink Cocoa. It means steadier nerves, better appetite, better digestion and increased vitality.

This Test Proves It!

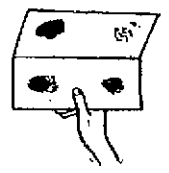

This freedom of Rockwood's Cocoa from excessive oil ("Cocoa Butter") is easily proved—you can do it yourself in a few seconds.

Place a pinch of Rockwood's and an equal pinch of any other cocoa on a piece of soft paper. Fold the paper over the cocoa and press with a hot flat-iron, pressing over both cocoas equally. Open the paper and see how much more oil you get from the other kind. If you do this test properly the big dark grease mark shows you how much indigestible cocoa butter you take into your stomach unless you drink Rockwood's—the healthful cocoa with the lighter color.

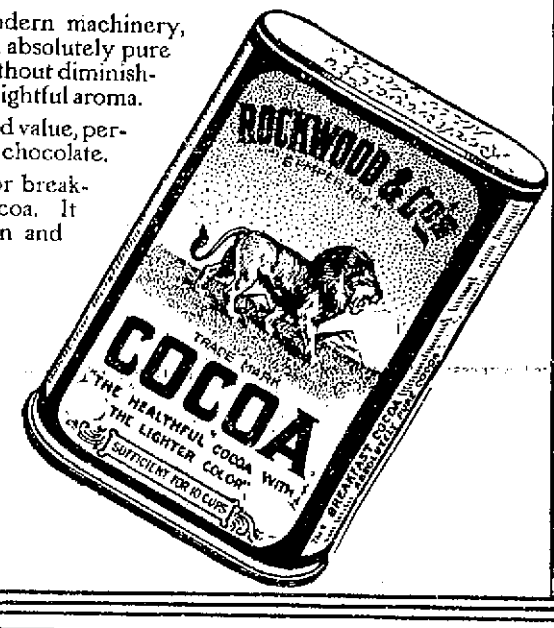

Don't drink this heavy oil—drink the only pure cocoa—drink Rockwood's for a few weeks and see for yourself how fully it delights you, nourishes you, sustains you.

At all first-class grocers

Rockwood's Cocoa comes in 1-pound cans, and in smaller sizes. The smallest size—5 cents—can be bought singly, or six in a box. These little cans make it easy to test the superiority of a light-colored cocoa.

NOT IN HARMONY WITH THE TIMES.

[Boston Transcript.]

The judiciary committee of the Rhode Island legislature yesterday reported a public utilities bill, and among its features are provisions that the railroads shall grant, and members of the General Assembly be permitted to accept passes over all lines operated within the state. It was stated by those claiming inside information that the committee did not desire to incorporate these clauses, but that certain country members threatened to defeat the measure unless this graft was included. Whether that is so or not, the terms seem rather reactionary and not wholly in harmony with the temper of the times.

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

A few sleighs were seen early this morning—it is hoped, the last of the season.

Mr. Arnold Smith and his sister, Miss Ellen Smith, of Paradise avenue, who have been spending the past few months at Orlando, Fla., returned home this week.

Mr. John Nicholson has recently introduced four milking machines at the farm of W. Clarence Peckham & Co. on Prospect avenue. They are run by a small electric motor and are proving so successful that four more are to be purchased. This will insure the milking of eight cows at once, a great saving of time in a large herd. The tubes from the cows enter a covered can specially constructed for use with the machine. The time is shortened by several minutes from the manual operation.

The exploring parties examining the shade and fruit trees of the island in search of the gypsy moth travel in crews of five, the total number sent out by the government being 100 men. Twenty of these are at present in Rhode Island, and thus far have discovered no sign of the pest here.

A few cases of German measles are reported here, and a Portuguese woman, just over the line on the East shore, died this week of diphtheria.

Mr. E. E. Packham will return from Eustis, Fla., next Wednesday.

PERSONALS.

....Leon Bourgeois, one of the best known publicists in France, will undoubtedly be one of the candidates for president of the republic at the next election. He has been a senator, a member of the Chamber of Deputies and has held several important cabinet positions, including that of minister of foreign affairs. He is also an author.

....The Pope received Thursday in private audience Major Archibald W. Butt, personal aide to President Taft, who was presented by Mgr. Thomas F. Kennedy, rector of the American College in Rome. The meeting was cordial. Major Butt presented to the pontiff an autograph letter from President Taft, with which the Pope was greatly pleased.

....Mayor David I. O'Connell of Worcester visited "Aunt Betty" Very, a former slave girl, at her home in Worcester, in honor of her one hundredth birthday. "Aunt Betty," is a familiar character in Worcester, and at the annual camp meetings in Sterling has come to be as much a part of the gathering as the preachers. She has an unusual history. Born as a slave girl in Luray, Va., she finally left the old plantation when George James Adams of Providence bought her, gave her freedom and under some difficulties brought her North and employed her as a servant in his home. He moved to Worcester later. "Aunt Betty" has been twice married, but doesn't know whether or not she has been twice a widow. Her second husband went away some years ago and she hasn't heard from him since.

THE WINDS OF MARCH.

[Gold Badge verse in St. Nicholas League.]

I come with a rush and I come with a roar;
I rattle the windows and shake every door;
I swirl round the corners, I howl in the night,
I shriek, and I whistle with all of my might.
For I am the wind of the North that blows
In the mad, merry month of March!

I come with a spatter and come with a dash;
I come with a downpour, and come with a splash;
I come with the cold, and I come with the rain,
And every one's sorry to see me again.
For I am the wind of the East that blows
In the mad, merry month of March!

I come with a hint of the birds that are singing,
With news of the flowers that soon will be springing;
I tell of the brooks running free in the sun,
And bring the spring's message to every one.
For I am the wind of the West that blows
In the mad, merry month of March!

I come with soft kisses and promise of roses
Aid bearing the breath of the sweet Southern posies;
With whispers of love I would woo you forever,
To charm and delight you is all my endeavor.
For I am the wind of the South that blows
In the mad, merry month of March!

A NEW CONSTITUTION IN SIGHT.

The action of the house of representatives in passing without a dissenting vote the resolutions looking toward the holding of a constitutional convention and for the creation of a committee to prepare a revision of the constitution, to be presented to that convention if it is finally authorized, marks another step forward for Rhode Island and shows that a long stride has been made in a direction the road to which has been blocked so many years by the very party now leading the way. The senate is practically certain to concur in this action and probably with the same unanimity, as the Democrats cannot with good grace oppose a plan for which they have been fighting for years simply because it is now advanced by the Republicans. If the movement is successful the credit will be given by thinking people to the party which so long has battled for a revision as much if not more than to the one which puts the final touch to the work and opens the way for its accomplishment and realization.

To those who for many years have persistently worked and planned for a constitutional convention and a revision of our basic laws it hardly seems possible now that the state is well on the road to the possession of a code of modern type, in place of the obsolete provisions which to a considerable extent burden the constitution. They have become so accustomed to being defeated in their efforts to secure this advance step that it is difficult to believe that at last they are in a fair way to win their fight, even though the forces will be led at the finish by those who in the past have been on the other side. It must be remembered, however, that this new constitution will not come in a day, but at the earliest it will be several years before it will be consummated. Yet the beginning of the end is now in sight and with the passage of the pending resolutions by the present legislature the prescribed course for the changing of the constitution will be begun and there will be practically no danger of any development to hinder the final result so important to the state and the people.

"THE RIGHT OF THE PEOPLE TO RULE."

Early in his Presidency Roosevelt developed a radical tendency in politics which he called the new nationalism. This consisted generally in an [illegible] extension of the power of [illegible] federal government and a proportionate curtailment of those of the states and specifically of governmental interference with business and social conditions which have thus far been left to the local authorities or to individual action. He has now advanced beyond his new nationalism to his newer program of progressivism, and his essential proposition is that the people are deprived of their right of self-government.

The chief specification under his general charge is that the courts have held unconstitutional certain laws regarding the hours of labor of women and the liability of employers for injuries suffered by employes. He is, however, on record as advocating far more sweeping social legislation than was proposed in these measures and only briefly retarded by judicial action for Congress has already passed an employers' liability law which has stood the scrutiny of the Supreme Court and there is every indication that the New York legislature will be equally successful.

In the speech which Roosevelt made in York, Pa., while he was President, he advocated a graduated income tax rising to 100 per cent, or confiscation, above a certain amount. To the greater part of the people an income of $5,000 would seem princely, but suppose Congress should levy a tax of 100 per cent on all excess above $5,000. Undoubtedly if that be the settled purpose of the people of this country they can attain their object, but any one except a radical in a state of inflammation would admit that a change of such enormous importance to the community should not be effected without prolonged deliberation, and the persons whose incomes exceed $5,000 ought to have ample means of justifying their present rights. Under the Roosevelt program the proposition to confiscate all income in excess of $5,000—or a smaller amount for that matter—might be put through Congress, a case under it at once made up, advanced rapidly by the courts on account of its intrinsic importance, decided by the Supreme Court to be unconstitutional, an appeal taken to the people who elected Congress to pass that law before there had been any time for sober second thought, and the court decision "recalled" inside of six months.

All the legislation regarding which Roosevelt said in Carnegie hall that the will of the people is defeated by the courts consists of propositions to take property from one man and give it to another. Of course property is not more sacred than humanity, but it happens that all civilization rests upon it and its protection. If capital shall be freely open to attack the first and greatest sufferers therefrom would be the persons whom Roosevelt is eager to assist while the present methods of legislation will enable the community to do everything it wishes except—possibly—the destruction of the right of private property, providing for the doing of this by methods which shall give every assurance of deliberation. Roosevelt's quarrel with the present form of government is that he cannot wait.

No one will dispute his proposition that the people have a right to rule. If people agree with him that their right to rule is defeated, they will of course support him in the present contest. We believe the overwhelming majority of the people of the United States are conscious that the people do rule; that constitutions are essential to the protection of person as well as property and the orderly administration of government, and that an independent judiciary is not insensible to public opinion and the moral standards of its own day, but is an essential protection of justice in controversies between man and man and between the majority and the minority.

If the social reforms regarding which Roosevelt is so greatly excited be as meritorious as he claims, the fact remains that if public opinion agrees with him it can accomplish its object, though after some delay, and that in far-reaching social legislation a community can afford to go as slowly as our established constitutional methods require rather than act as hastily as the impetuous ex-President demands.

SMALL FARMS NEAR LARGE CITIES.

Secretary Wilson of the Department of Agriculture points out the desirability of the raising of crops near large cities as a means of reducing the price of food, particularly those products which can be grown on comparatively small acreages. He cites Washington as an illustration of the fact that this could readily be done and the result would be a material reduction in cost. A large proportion of the fresh vegetables, poultry and eggs brought into the capital comes from distant points, while there are large areas of land near the city which are allowed to lie idle. These, if utilized, would easily supply all the products of this kind which the people of that city require, so that the cost of freight could be eliminated and the price materially cut. This condition, he points out, is quite common near large cities, but should not be allowed to exist because it is wholly unnecessary and could be easily remedied.

The truth of this statement by Secretary Wilson is apparent to any one who recalls the many acres of unused and unproductive land to be seen in the immediate vicinity of these cities, and it is strange that the people who live near at hand do not recognize the opportunity at their very doors of supplying the needs for fresh vegetables and poultry products. The experience of the farmers on this island is an excellent illustration of the fact that there is always a demand for such things and that it is a great advantage to have a market so near at hand. Few farming communities have such an advantageous location as Middletown and Portsmouth, with a market so easily accessible and almost entirely free from competition from outside. Yet all over the country farming on a small scale near large cities, with the chief attention paid to vegetables, small fruits, poultry and eggs, would be found profitable. A large increase in the aggregate of such farms would without doubt tend to decrease the price of foods and lower the cost of living in such communities.

Will the picturesque old poor house, now the Training Station administration building, be re-built? The interior has suffered much damage, but the walls are still good for many generations of wear. Repeated efforts have been made to replace the structure with something with a modern even if poorer exterior, but it has looked of late, until the recent fire, as though the department had decided that the cheapest and best thing was to make repairs and preserve a real ornament to the island. With extensive reconstruction necessary, it may now be that the destructionists will win out.

The recent exhibition of paintings of local artists by the Current Topics Club was so successful, as showing what has been done along this line by Newport people, that an annual Spring exhibit of the same nature would seem to be a very good thing. It would probably be found that, as pleasing as was the recent exhibition, the amount and variety of work which could be brought out with encouragement would be surprising.

Colonel Roosevelt has received a hurry call from the Progressive Republicans of Maine to come over and help them. He will speak in Portland and make a direct appeal to the voters of the state. Then he will start on a Western trip, going as far as Michigan The colonel is bound to talk and the more he talks the more he says which is calculated to hurt his cause.

A Boston bank has introduced the finger print to identify depositors who cannot write or whose signature is not legible. Every depositor of this character must register his finger print before he can draw out money. Other banking institutions are watching the experiment with interest and if it proves a success will adopt it.

Woman suffrage is to become effective immediately in China. The women voters will be subject to the same restrictions as men; and must be property owners, 20 years old and able to read and write. Similar restrictions might be applied to men in this country.

Arizona is bound to put the recall of judges in its constitution. It could not become a state until it had taken the recall out of its original document, but the legislature at its first opportunity votes to submit to the people an amendment putting it back.

The Indiana Democrats have not only launched the Presidential boom of Governor Marshall of that state, but the delegates are instructed to vote for him at Baltimore first, last and every time. The more the merrier.

Winter's return was not for long, but it was long enough.

PORTO RICO CONTENTED.

Retiring Attorney General of the Island Says People are Happy Under American Rule.

Attorney General Foster V. Brown of Porto Rico, who has resigned in order to take up the practice of law in Chattanooga, Tenn., his home city, speaks enthusiastically of the progress and future prosperity of Porto Rico. Mr. Brown, who in his two years of service on the island came in close contact with all classes and conditions of its citizens, denounces as a slander any attempt to make it appear that there is an anti-American sentiment in Porto Rico. He declares that on the contrary the people there are taking with ever increasing zest to American customs and American institutions and are yearning for nothing so much as for American citizenship.

"I do not think there is a single state in the Union today where the people are as happy as the Porto Ricans are with the government they have," Mr. Brown said. "There is only one complaint the Porto Ricans make against the United States government, and that, I think, is a just one: they feel that they have a right to American citizenship. That feeling was expressed and favored in the platforms of both parties in this country and both President Roosevelt and President Taft urged the conferring of such citizenship. The House at Washington passed a bill looking toward that end only the other day, and the matter is now before the Senate.

"There is absolutely no reason, especially in view of these long-standing promises, why Porto Ricans should not be made citizens. Without it they feel today that the Porto Rican is a man without a country. Only a few days ago a rich Porto Rican friend of mine who had bought property in this state told me that he could not get title to it because he was considered an alien in New York state, and its law forbids an alien to hold property. That is scarcely just toward one who is under the protection of the American flag, whose whole political and economic future is bound up with the United States, and whose people are as loyal to America in all their ways and manners as the people of any state in the Union."

Bristol School Committee, by Tie Vote, Fails to Repeal Political Rule.

Providence Labor Men Oppose Amendments to Beeckman Liability Bill.

By a tie vote, 3 to 3, the repeal of the Nerone amendment, presented by the minority of the Bristol school committee Thursday evening at a special meeting of the board was declared lost by Dr. W. Fred Williams, president pro tem. Rev. William R. Trotter, president of the committee, was unable to be present on account of illness. Dr. Williams strenuously opposed the repeal of the amendment, which prohibits teachers or principals from taking active part in politics and led in the three quarters of an hour debate in opposition to the re-instatement in office of Colonel John H. Bailey as principal of the Byfield school and teacher of the eight grade school, from which he was dismissed several days ago, unless Colonel Bailey acknowledged that he had taken a wrong stand in the school controversy in Bristol. Dr. Williams was again informed by J. H. Young of the committee that the Nerone amendment, to all intents, was aimed solely at Colonel Bailey and did not include the clerk of the committee, Philip Brady, who is also a member of the board and the janitors and other employes. Dr. Howard W. Church offered the resolution to repeal the Nerone amendment and it was seconded by J. H. Young, Dr. Church adding that he had a substitute amendment which he intended to offer later, to include the prohibiting of all school department employes from engaging in politics. Dr. Williams announced that no substitute amendment could be considered as such a feature was not included in the call.

Hearty support of the original Beeckman employers' liability bill, but firm opposition to amendments to the measure made in the senate committee on judiciary are voiced in an open letter made public by President E. D. Cullen of Providence Council, Building Trades' Department, American Federation of Labor. The letter will be communicated to both branches of the General Assembly. It asks for another public hearing on the bill so that the sentiment of the workingmen, especially as relates to the proposed amendment, may be placed before the legislature. The letter follows: "The attention of the building trades department of this city has been called to a certain amendment which has been attached to senate bill No. 1, to wit, the bill of Senator R. L. Beeckman, by title 'The Employers' Liability Act,' to which, in its entirety as originally made, we are favorable, but to which as amended we are decidedly opposed, since under the said amendment the men of our craft would be practically eliminated from the benefits which are designed to accrue from the passage of the bill with the amendment attached.

As a result of reports of the methods used at the Wickford station of the Commissioners of Inland Fisheries of this state, the station is to be inspected next summer by a representative of the English government. England is greatly interested in the rearing of young lobsters and flatfish, in which the Rhode Island commissioners have had much success, and in view of this a man will be sent to spend at least two weeks and possibly longer at the Wickford station. While there he will study from every point of view the methods of hatching and rearing the small fish until they are ready to be dropped overboard to shift for themselves.

While the bodies of the sailors of the Maine, found in the wreck of the battleship when she was raised from the harbor of Havana recently, are being buried in the Arlington National Cemetery Saturday afternoon memorial services will be held in Providence under the auspices of Allyn K. Capron Camp, No. 1 United Spanish War Veterans. Mayor Fletcher will preside and former Governor Higgins will deliver the memorial oration. It was decided to tender a public invitation to attend to Senator Ezra Dixon, department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, and his staff, Captain Edgar R. Barker, department commander of the United Spanish war Veterans, and his staff; the commander, officers and members of Sidney F. Hoar Camp, No. 4; the Veterans of the Foreign service, a delegation of the Rhode Island Boy Scouts and other patriotic organizations. An invitation is also extended to the general public.

For the first time since 1908 Brown won the collegiate triangular league debating contest Thursday evening, gaining a decision over the Williams debaters at Sayles Hall, Providence, and winning from Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H. By virtue of these victories Brown assumes the unquestioned lead in the league debates to date. The Dartmouth team, heretofore a close second, was twice defeated, Williams winning at Williamstown against the team from Hanover. Since the founding of the league in 1906 Brown has now won 10 decisions, Dartmouth seven and Williams four. This year's double victory was particularly significant, in view of the fact that for the first time in the history of the league home teams upheld the negative side of the argument. Heretofore, the affirmative has been argued by debaters on their home platform, but owing the recent criticism to the effect that an advantage was thus gained the position of the teams was reversed this year. The question of debate was: "Resolved, That in dealing with such industrial combinations as the Standard Oil and American Tobacco Company a policy of federal control is preferable to a policy of dissolution designed to enforce competition."

Frank A. Rhodes, for years a prominent cotton goods broker and well known in Civil War veteran circles in Providence, died Thursday, three weeks after the death of his wife. He had been in ill health a long time. He was born in Providence March 31, 1836, and was the son of Peleg A. and Eliza (Avery) Rhodes. On his father's side he was descended from one of the oldest Rhode Island families, which has always been prominent in the business life of the state. Educated in the Providence schools and in Brown University in the class of 1856, he gave up his college career to enter the cotton goods business. He was engaged in this when the Civil war broke out, being in the office with his father. He enlisted in the Tenth Rhode Island Volunteer Battery, and when he was mustered out of the service held the rank of first lieutenant. He was president of the Tenth Rhode Island Volunteer Veterans' Association, a member of Rodman Post, No. 12, G. A. R., and of the Massachusetts Commandery of the Loyal Legion.

DID NOT HAVE A SQUARE DEAL.

Respondent Brow Testifies as to the Sale of the Tiverton Farm to Sweeney.

Judge Lee presided in the superior court this morning and the Sweeney-Brow case proceeded.

James H. Gilldard, Sr., superintendent of construction, of Fall River, testified. Heard Mr. Gray and Mr. Brow talking, about two weeks before the sale. Did not hear Mr. Brow say he desired Mr. Gray to take full charge of the sale or as the whole business. It was not said in witness's presence, nor did Mr. Brow say he wished to have absolutely nothing to do with the sale. Witness was present when Mr. Andrews opened the safe. Mr. Gray described the property "from his head," reading nothing; Mr. Gray said he had no paper, or anything. Witness took the money at the sale. Accounted to Mr. Gray, turning over the money to him the morning after the sale.

In cross-examination witness said he had known Mr. Brow perhaps seven years. Is not at all related. Mr. Brow called him, on the telephone, and spoke of this sale. Witness recommended Gray as the auctioneer, and took him to meet Mr. Brow, at Stone Bridge. Witness sat behind them in the automobile going to the farm, and left them at no time, on the farm. Witness was asked why he staid with them after introducing them; he said Mr. Brow asked him to go, and also he went from curiosity.

Mr. Gray didn't secure the job until they went all over the farm. Mr. Gray was not given full charge of the auction. "Who else had charge?" asked the court. Witness said he couldn't tell; he surmised. That was stricken out. Witness said Mr. Gray offered to sell for five per cent. and Mr. Brow asked him to take charge of the advertising. Then witness admitted that Mr. Gray was given charge of the auction sale and said that didn't mean, to witness, "full charge."

Witness was acting for Mr. Brow in this matter, and at the sale, taking charge of the money at his request. He frequently stops at witness's place, in passing. At the sale Mr. Gray sent witness to Mr. Brow to ask if the latter wished to sell for the price then offered ($9,800) or desired it worried higher. Mr. Brow was 25 or 30 feet from the selling platform, Mr. Brow said No; "Mr. Gray knows what I want." Witness made no report of this to Mr. Gray.

Witness saw the farm knocked down at about 3 minutes of 11. Received the money from Mr. Sweeney between 4 and 5 p. m., before the sale was completed. Met Gray and Sweeney in Fall River; witness denied that Gray said: "Gildard, didn't I send you to Brow to tell him that I was going to sell the farm and ask him if he had any instructions;" and witness said Brow threw up his hands.

The court asked where Brow was when Gray was calling for bids. Witness said about 30 feet away. Witness was asked if he had been paid for his services, and said "Yes." He smiled and denied feeling that he should have had part of the commission because he gave the sale to Gray, or that he had advised Brow and was really the cause of this dispute. "Not in the least," said witness. Did he think that if there was another auction sale he would receive the job? "No." Witness gave Mr. Gray some instructions at the sale, acting at Mr. Brow's request.

George H. Brow, respondent, then took the stand. His principal business is scrap iron, but he also holds various offices in corporations. He did not give Mr. Gray full charge of the auction or say: "I want to have absolutely nothing to do with it." Told him "I wanted him to have Mr. Andrews to open the sale. He said: 'All Right. Andrews is a good fellow.'" Received a certified check from Mr. Andrews, the Saturday after the sale. There was no account with it. Did not know what the check was for.

Witness did not charge Mr. Gray with being in collusion with Mr. Sweeney, or charge Gray with supporting Sweeney for mayor. Knew nothing about Sweeney's politics, and doesn't know now that Gray supported Sweeney.

As to the interview at Butler Exchange, it was all ruled out. It was between Brow and his own agent, Gray, before witnesses, and had no effect on Sweeney. It was an unusual occurrence, thought the court. Messrs. Greenaw and Waterman contended tenaciously, but Judge Lee was clear and positive. Exception noted.

Witness met Mr. Sweeney about a half-hour after the sale to him. Witness introduced himself to him and shook hands. Asked him if he had bought the place and Sweeney said he had. Witness said: "You have got a—good bargain." Did not congratulate Mr. Sweeney. Witness went on to say: "I didn't know as the place was really sold. According to the instructions I had given Mr. Gray I didn't think the place was sold. I had had one or two people come to me * * * and I had told them no." The court ruled out the "no" and said he would note an exception every time he ruled against respondent.

Witness said that on Sunday he told Mr. Sweeney he didn't think he had had a square deal. Mr. Sweeney said he would get the place and witness said: "May-be you will and may-be you won't."

Resuming, Mr. Brow said that he told Mr. Gray: "You must not think of selling for $10,000; you must carry it to $11,000." Did not ask Mr. Sweeney if he was not going to buy any of the stuff, and say he was foolish not to do so.

In cross-examination, respondent said he did not know Mr. Gray previous to this matter. The farm was a stable to him, and an expense. Met Mr. Orlando Pearce in Providence, about six months before the sale. Spoke of selling the farm. "Did you at any time offer to sell this farm to Mr. Pearce, with everything on it, for $17,—" Ruled out.

Witness was asked as to the improvements on the farm, etc. He said the farm was worth more money when he sold than when he talked with Mr. Pearce; there was no comparison. The trees had been planted, and the stock and cattle was more valuable. Witness said: "I can't think of everything—that was some farm, I can tell you." The court still ruled out the evidence as to Mr. Pearce's offer.

Witness said he was at the sale, but was "walking" and did not hear the $9,800 bid. Was talking with somebody, heard the first bid of $5,000. Heard no bids. He knew the farm was being offered for sale. He walked away. Never had not gone up to where he could be heard. Witness went on to say that he said to some inquirers that he felt that the farm was certainly sold at that price. Said no such thing to Mr. Sweeney.

Witness denied that he had gone over the record of the sale with Mr. Gray before accepting the certified check. The $9,800 Mr. Sweeney paid Mr. Gilldard has never been returned to Sweeney, so far as witness knows. Witness denied ever going to Mr. Gray's or seeing the record of the sale. Telephoned to him and was told he was away. Often passes Mr. Gray's house. Did not go there and look over the book, by Mrs. Gray's permission.

It was the Sunday after the sale that witness disputed the sale to Mr. Sweeney. Witness denied that he had authorized this counsel to agree to the sale if the chicken coops and steel "tie ups" in the barn were excepted.

Witness admitted seeing a record being kept, in a book, at the auction. Mr. Andrews told him after the sale what the property sold for. Witness said he did not know Mr. Sweeney before the sale. Closely questioned, he admitted that as a boy he lived near Mr. Sweeney; thinks he did know him at the sale. Witness admitted seeing the advertisement, with "L. S. Gray, auctioneer" at the bottom.

At 12:28 a recess to 2 p. m. was taken.

HOSPITABLY ENTERTAINED.

Sunday School Members Special Guests at a Varied Y. M. C. A. Social.

The various Sunday Schools, including officers, members and their friends, were hospitably entertained Thursday evening at the Young Men's Christian Association rooms, at a social especially arranged by Social Secretary W. G. Stockwell. The building presented an animated scene, with every hall and room aglow with light, and something going on all the time. The program, while not elaborate, was sufficiently varied in its scope to suit both old and young. Only adult members of the Sunday Schools were expected to be present.

A gymnastic exhibition by a class of high school boys was the first number on the program, illustrating pyramid building, an event which will be quite prominent in the coming circus. The employe boys' act on the "Elephant" was cleverly executed with the aid of Physical Instructor Slocum; this is also being practiced for the circus. K. B. Squires performed with the clubs and a group of Seniors—Babcock, Apostian and Cunningham—on the flying rings and horizontal bar. Physical Director Slocum and four Seniors put on as the last event "Jumping Jacks," one of the most applauded feats of the evening.

After the gymnasium exhibition the guests slowly wended their way to the halls above, to enjoy the second part of the program. Quartet selections were rendered by Louis B. Plummer, F. W. Johnson, John Haas and Alexander W. Thompson, with Albert A. Soderman accompanying. The Alpha orchestra, Harry Kalquist leader, interspersed selections. W. G. Stockwell, prevented from singing on account of a severe cold, entertained with the hand bells, producing clear tones in imitation of chime ringing. Orangeade and wafers were served.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The annual inspection of the Newport Artillery Company is set for the evening of April 19.

—Miss Edna Sharpe entertained a small company Thursday evening at her home on Ayrault street.

—Mr. Samuel Speers, salesman with the Shepard Company, Providence, was here today on a visit and business trip combined.

Steamer Richard Peck has completed her overhauling at the repair shops and will leave Saturday or Sunday for New Bedford.

—Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott's lecture on the conditions after the great earthquake at Messina, before the Channing Guild, will be of much interest, as Mrs. Elliott was secretary to a relief committee formed by the wife of the American ambassador.

—A miniature in bronze of "The Hiker," which the Spanish-American War Veterans of the state are to erect in some Rhode Island cemetery as a memorial to their deceased comrades, has arrived here and will be placed on exhibition in one of the Thames street stores.

—The Clarence A. Hammett Company has sold for John G. and Elizabeth G. Wright the dwelling and 5,000 square feet of land, bounded south by Princeton street, west by Broadway and north and east by the Barker Realty Company land, to Lieutenant Lucian Minor, U. S. N.

—This sort of weather is discouraging many. One resident who had been down from the state institutions for only a short time gave himself up today and asked to be sent back. He had no work and the weather was bad. He was accommodated. Another, for sleeping out, was given a chance, or will be later; he pleaded not guilty this morning.

—Officer Coggeshall did not stop a runaway this morning, but did something more worthy of record—started a balky horse. Perhaps it is not fair to the horse to call it balky, as the blame may have been on the driver, but Officer Coggeshall set the horse to going. The scene was Washington square the spectators were numerous, and so were the suggestions.

—That ancient mariner, schooner Julia A. Berkele, which went ashore at Bonnet point in the fog and was hauled off by revenue cutter Mohawk, was towed to the outer harbor, where the Solicitor took her and brought her in. The only damage reported was an unshipped rudder. This will be shipped by the captain and the good old ship will continue on her way.

—A still alarm sounded Thursday afternoon at 3:55 and Chemical 1 and Hose 4 rushed to 67 Spruce street, where Mr. Jackson lives and where a chimney fire, alias a soot fire in the chimney, had given some doubts about the building being a good place in which to sleep. A little of the usual good chimney cleaning which the firemen know so well how to do reassured the family.

—The work of repairing the damage of last week's storm between here and Fall River on the trolley line is still progressing, a large number of men being employed. The whole line will be gone over, but at present the worst places are being straightened up. Thursday forenoon one of the cars dropped off the rails near Melville station, but repairs were soon made and the weak place in the track has been given attention.

THOMAS MACKENZIE ELECTED.

To Succeed Ward as Prime Minister of New Zealand.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, March 22.—Thomas MacKenzie, minister of agriculture and commerce, was today elected prime minister of New Zealand by 72 votes to 9. Sir Joseph G. Ward, the present prime minister, will defer his resignation until Mr. MacKenzie has definitely formed his cabinet.

ENCORE AFTER ENCORE.

Signor Romito, the Tenor, Even Recalled for a Third Number.

All the Singers at the Boston Opera Company Concert Share in the Enthusiasm.

Time was when New England students of music used to read how operatic performances raised European audiences to a great pitch of excitement. It seemed perhaps more disconnected with New England than do now the details of discovering a north or a south pole. If Newport goes much farther in its enthusiasm over the operatic concerts given here, it will soon be but a step to the European style of enjoying such music.

The storm and other strong attractions combined to decrease the audience which assembled to hear the concert Thursday evening. It was not quite so large as on some previous occasions, but for enthusiasm it was equal or better than many of much larger size. The applause was generous and rarely do encores come so "fast and furious."

The artists for this concert—all from the Boston Opera House—included some who have been heard here before and some who were new-comers. All received a cordial welcome and those who had sung here before added to their laurels. The company included a quartet, vocal soloist and Mr. Frank Waller, accompanist, who as when here before took the place of some one else previously designated and went right along with the playing. Miss Putnam, who was here at the first in this series of concerts, was here again.

Signor Raoul Romito, the first artist to appear, was heard here at a previous concert. He began possibly a little moderately. It is no disadvantage to a program to begin that way if it presages a climax, and the climax was to follow unmistakably. His first number was an aria from Bolto's "Mefistofele," Mlle. Elaine Gagneau sang an excellent number from Saint-Saens's "Samson and Delilah." By this time the audience began to be enthusiastic and a deserved encore was called for. It proved to be Bizet's "Habanera" from "Carmen."

Then followed a familiar selection from Gounod's beautiful opera of "Faust," by Signor Kaplick. This too struck a popular vein and an encore was demanded—"For you alone," by Geehl. A modern aria from Puccini's "Madame Butterfly" was sung by Madam Marie Louise Martini, the soprano of the company, who was heard at a previous concert. She too was encored and sang a taking old French air, "L'amour s'evarole." A duet by Delibes from "Lakme" by the two women closed the first part of the program. This was given with much finish and was loudly applauded, but as duets are not always prepared by the wholesale this opportunity for an encore was passed.

The second part opened with great enthusiasm. Signor Romito was now feeling like showing something of what he could do and did what few singers have done. He first sang a long-time favorite from the old opera, "L'Elixir d'Amour," by Donizetti. Again it was shown that these old operas have something which takes hold of the hearers as the new ones cannot, and when such a tenor as Romito sings one of these arias there is something worth hearing. Of course there was an encore and "O Sole Mio" by Capua was given. The audience was all the more anxious to keep on listening to Romito, and a second encore was registered—"La Donna e Mobile" by Verdi. Then the record was broken. Romito received a third encore, and was forced to respond with a repetition of "O Sole Mio."

Mlle. Gagneau came out to sing another old-time aria, from Meyerbeer's "Prophet." She is the third remarkable contralto who has come to Newport in these concerts. A beautiful voice, sweet, full, and charmingly modulated with the graceful finish of an artist it merited the encore given. An American air, "The Danza," by Chadwick, was sung and again came the demand for more. This was answered by a repetition of "The Danza." Mlle. Gagneau is now one of the artists who praise a Newport audience. She said she liked it better than a Boston audience; it was not so cold.

Kaplick sang an aria from Massenet's "Herodiade," which was encored, and responded with "I know of two bright eyes," by Cluisam. Again Mme. Martini sang, this time from the older style. It was a very florid aria from Meyerbeer's "Pardon du Ploermel." Again and again the flexible voice seemed to cover the whole gamut in rapid passages reaching some very high notes. There was a big demand for an encore, but it was not given. Mme. Martini came out and bowed, which was the signal for great applause.

The "grand finale" was another old-time favorite, the well known quartet from Verdi's "Rigoletto," and it was given with much spirit. All voices had their brief solo bits and all along Romito's big, dramatic tenor was doing great work. The audience fully appreciated the number and loud applause followed.

Mr. Barker, who has been the local manager of these concerts, deserves general thanks, for he has been the means of bringing no small amount of enjoyment and refined and elevating entertainment to many people of Newport and vicinity.

FOR NON-SUPPORT.

Young Man Who Beat and Then Deserted His Wife Sentenced to Six Months in Jail.

In the district court this morning John E. Mullally was convicted on a charge of non-support and sentenced by Judge Franklin to six months in the Providence County jail. It lay within the discretion of the court to impose a sentence of from six months to three years.

Mullally was married to Miss Stella Mary Moran in December, 1909, but the couple have not been living together since a year ago last September, due, she says, to his "uncontrollable temper and vicious nature." At the time of the marriage she was 17 and he 19. They made their home with his parents after the marriage, until their relations became unhappy and she left him, because she says he "beat her every day." Since then she has been employed as a pianist in New York, where some of her relatives live. Mullally was formerly a soloist at moving picture houses, and is now following the trade of painter. The correspondence of the couple when they were separated was introduced in court. He denied ever striking his wife, and said she had a habit of leaving the house and not returning for several days as she saw fit.

The complainant was the only witness for the state. The defendant's father testified in his behalf. City Solicitor Sullivan appeared for the state and M. A. Sullivan for defendant.

State vs. Edward Buckles, alleging a serious assault, was set for trial March 26.

TIVERTON.

Annual Town Meeting Transacts Much Business, Authorizing a New Schoolhouse.

The annual town meeting in Tiverton was comparatively quiet. There was but little discussion over the various articles in the warrant, and this was confined to two or three. The attendance was large and the hall was well filled. Dr. E. P. Stimson was moderator.

When the question of increasing the tax rate came up several expressed their views, but when it was put to vote the meeting decided that the rate should remain as it was last year $10 a thousand. The article pertaining to the highways appropriation provoked another discussion, and $5,000 was finally voted.

When the question whether the town should contract with the Tiverton Gas Company for the illumination of the streets came up it was brought out that the company was not in existence, but that William E. King, a citizen of Tiverton, had taken over its plant, and was desirous of making a contract for supplying the town with light, both on the streets and in houses, the gas to be purchased through him from the Fall River Gas Works Company. The sum of $1,000 was appropriated for the contract at the annual rate of $25 a light.

The report of the school committee was read by Town Clerk A. Lincoln Hambly. The report embodied a request for an appropriation of $11,000 to cover expenses this year, a larger amount than usual, due to the fact that there are additional teachers, more supplies to be bought and a new schoolhouse to be equipped. The sum asked by the committee was appropriated.

The town treasurer was given authority to borrow not to exceed $30,000 on occasion to meet the expenses of the town.

Appropriations of $100 each were also made for the Union and Whitridge Hall public libraries.

A sum was voted, sufficient to pay for the tuition of high school students residing in Tiverton attending school out of the town.

An appropriation of $150 was made for the widening of Brayton road, by constructing turnouts at suitable distances.

The question of building a schoolhouse in what was formerly known as district No. 7 was considered. It was moved that a schoolhouse be built, suitable to the purpose, the cost not to exceed $3,000. During the discussion it developed that the lot where the other school was does not belong to the town, so that a new site would need to be purchased, the cost to be included in the appropriation. It was the general opinion, however, that the land could be secured at a reasonable figure.

Article 14 was on the question of the repeal of votes passed at meetings held March 15 and July 29 of last year, authorizing the town council to issue bonds for $56,000 for payment of outstanding debts of the town. The reason for asking the repeal was stated before the motion was put. Dr. C. H. Bryant explained that in issuing the bonds it was stipulated that payment by the town would be made at the rate of $1,000 a year Thus it would be 56 years before the debt was cleared. On this condition, no one would take up the bonds. A motion to repeal the votes was carried.

Article 15 referred to authorizing the town treasurer to negotiate bonds for $61,000 to pay notes of the town now outstanding. A motion was passed giving the treasurer power to issue bonds for $60,000, payable at the rate of $2,000 a year with interest.

Other appropriations made included $4,000 for the general expenses of the town, $100 for the chemical engine, sufficient money for the support of the poor in and out of the asylum, and $1,200 for interest on bonds.

The most excitement of the afternoon arose when the next article came before the meeting, which called for action in relation to sinking taxes heretofore assessed. After a long discussion the meeting refused to sink uncollected taxes at present, and the matter will probably come up at a later date.

LOCAL BRIEFS

—Mr. H. Howard Parker is confined to his home on Bliss road by illness.

—Captain and Mrs. William L. Rodgers entertained at dinner at the Naval War College Thursday evening.

—Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson, U. S. N. (retired), is visiting his daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Hussey, at the Swinburne cottage, Greenough place.

—Torpedo boat destroyers Flusser, Lamson, Preston, Smith, Drayton and Paulding, with tender Dixie, have arrived at Pensacola and the Reid, Perking, Mayrant, Sterrett and Walke have sailed from Key West for Pensacola. The destroyers will engage in spring manoeuvres in Florida waters.

—A suit against the Newport Water Works has been filed in the superior court for Newport county by John Ferada of this city, who claims that May 30, 1911, while riding a bicycle on Marlborough street, he was run into by the automobile repair wagon owned by the water company and received injuries from which he has not yet fully recovered. He asks for $1,500 damages.

—Mr. Benjamin McLyman of this city is one of the eight Brown University students selected in the preliminary tests for the final competition for the Carpenter prizes in elocution. They were named by Professor Thomas Crosby, Jr., eight instead of the usual seven being chosen owing to the fact that all were so evenly matched that it was difficult to select the smaller number. The prize contest will take place Tuesday evening, April 30.

—On the program for the concert to be given at the First Methodist Episcopal Church various schools of music and many countries will have place. American is not forgotten, while England, Germany, Italy, Spain, Russia and Hungary will be represented. The selections range from the classical to the humorous and all the performers are musicians well known in Newport. Mr. Webber, who will read, needs no introduction to audiences here.

—The News, in an item regarding the licensing of lobster fishermen, stated Thursday that the only requirement for the license is that the applicant shall have been a resident of this state one year. This is an error, the law requiring that the applicant shall be a citizen of the state and also shall have resided here at least one year next preceding the granting of the license. Under the law the applicant must therefore be a native or an actually naturalized citizen.

PETITIONS ON LIQUOR TRAFFIC.

Many Protests Against the Shipment Into Prohibition States.

Legislation Being Postponed—Stumped by Barrundia Incident—Scientific Agriculturists.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, March 21.—According to the petitions presented to Congress, there is a very strong demand for legislation which will prevent the shipment of liquors by interstate commerce lines into states having prohibition laws. Scarcely a day passes that does not show the receipt of many such petitions.

While petitions do not always indicate what the people want, because so many are of the manufactured variety, yet there is a certain indication of sentiment in them. The petitions show that people are divided on the parcels post proposition, about an equal number of those received being for and against the proposed system.

In all probability the bill for further regulating liquor traffic in prohibition states will go over until the short session when it can be easily killed. The methods usually employed to defeat such legislation have already been put in operation. People have been given extensive hearings, which have no bearing on the case, for it is purely one of legal construction. Whenever unlimited hearings are given on a disputed bill it is in danger, for by such means it is held back until pressing business of other kinds gets started, and it is crowded out in the close of the session.

It may be remarked that this liquor bill is politically "dangerous," contains a lot of "dynamite," and no one can tell who may be hurt by it if it ever has to be voted upon or passed.

We often hear of the peculiar questions which are asked at civil service examinations, supposed to be for the purpose of learning how much general information the applicant for office possesses, but an army officer thinks he has got the best one yet. He came up for examination for promotion to the next grade, which is supposed to cover an officer's proficiency in the service, and was asked, "What was the Barrundia incident, and what effect did it have on international affairs?"

I heard McCreary, now governor of Kentucky, discuss the Barrundia incident until we nicknamed him "Old Barrundia," and yet I cannot tell what was the incident, nor can I say what effect it had on international affairs. What chance had a poor army officer who never heard of Barrundia? I have a faint recollection that Barrundia was taken from an American vessel by some southern government and shot, but that is as close as I can get to it offhand.

Former Speaker Cannon arose one morning to correct the record of his vote on a pension bill.

"How did you vote?" asked Champ Clark, well knowing that the Illinois veteran never voted against any pension bill.

"I voted 'aye' in a loud voice," declared Uncle Joe, which caused a titter in the House.

"Scientific agriculturists" is the term Congressman Fitzgerald applies to Minority Leader Mann and himself. Fitz was fighting a provision in the agricultural bill, which finally provoked Lever of South Carolina, a member of the agricultural committee, to say, "The discussion shows how poorly a lot of ordinary farmers like Chairman Lamb and myself are fitted to cope with the shrewd Irish wit of the gentleman from Brooklyn."

Oscar Underwood, leader of the House and candidate for President, has developed a plan which may result in government aid to road building. He proposes to have a commission composed of three members of the Senate and House make an investigation as to the condition of the public highways, the cost of transportation over them, the cost of improvements, construction and maintenance, as well as the cost of carrying the mail over the roads. The commission is to report also as to the advisability of granting government aid to such roads.

No doubt such a commission, if properly selected from among those who are known to favor government aid of public highways will come back to Congress with a report as to the necessity, also with a feasible plan, for government road building.

After Senator Lodge had made his wonderful and masterly speech on the arbitration treaties a friend commented to Senator Root on the speech, who agreed that it was a splendid effort.

"Senator Lodge," remarked the New York Senator, "is the only man connected with the government of the United States who has style."

No one could accord another a higher compliment.

Arthur W. Dunn.

AMERICAN TELEPHONE COMPANY FINANCES.

The report of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company for the year ended December 31, 1911, shows gross earnings for the Bell Telephone system in the United States $175,477,998, against $165,612,581 in 1910, an increase of $10,865,117, expenses, $127,591,701, an increase of $10,273,228; net earnings, $51,886,297, increase, $591,889. Deducting interest of $13,619,860 the net profits for the year were $37,975,437, a decrease of $1,462,197; after payment of $25,566,976 dividends the surplus earnings were $12,408,461, comparing with $14,276,753 in the preceding year, a decrease of $2,268,197. The items making up the total expenses were: Operation, $69,085,425; current maintenance, $20,184,592; depreciation, $28,655,832, and taxes, $3,566,522.

The system is a growing one, having, during the year, gained 749,906 stations and now operating 6,632,625. The Bell toll lines now reach 70,000 places, which is 5,000 more than the number of postoffices and 10,000 more than the number of railroad stations in the United States.

HENRIETTA CROSMAN ON KISSING.

About the most pleasant thing that can happen to Henrietta Crosman is to have one of her admiring women friends up and kiss her; not that Miss Crosman is partial to men, but she simply loathes seeing two women kissing.

The other day while attending a reception in a woman's club, there was quite a deal of "smacking" going on and one of the women with Miss Crosman developed into a very enthusiastic kisser. Finally after several kissing matches had taken place, Miss Crosman gently reproved her friend by saying:

"You know you shouldn't do that, for no one likes to see a woman doing a man's work."

Of course this was a general laugh, and needless to say it was not on Miss Crosman.

When the Unexpected Happens.

"OH, Helen, isn't it too bad. The doctor has just been here and says that Willie has the measles.

"We will have to give up the little trip we planned. I'm awfully sorry."

When the unexpected happens, the Bell Telephone in the home helps the housewife out of a dilemma.

TONG WAR IMPENDING.

Trouble in San Francisco Following Murders in Chinatown.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—A tong war, perhaps the bloodiest in years, impends today in Chinatown here, following murders in the Chinese quarters of Sacramento, Oakland and San Francisco late last night. While a fiend among four other Tongs was slaughtering the hitherto peaceful members of the Bing Kong Society, without warning, shot down five members of the Kim Lum Society. As one of the assassinations took place in a temple of the powerful Che Kung Tong or Chinese Free Masons Society, it is expected that the war will become general.

At Sacramento Willie Wing, an Americanized Chinese, was killed in a Chop suey restaurant by an unknown assailant, armed with an automatic pistol. Wing Kong fell next with six bullets in his body, in a gambling house nearby, but his murderer, Fuey Yuen, was caught by the police. Lee Sun, slain in the Che Kung Temple in Oakland, was a Sacramento cigar maker. In San Francisco Tom Lung, a tea merchant, was killed in an alley. Soon afterward the body of Lee Chow Wo was found in his room.

The Kim Lums received no warning that the truce was broken and were caught unprepared. Except in the first case the slayers escaped. A few minutes ago shots were fired at the members of another Tong. At this hour police sent plain clothesmen to Chinatown, with orders to arrest any one drawing a weapon.

MINIMUM TARIFF TOO HIGH.

Canada's Commercial Treaty With France Unsatisfactory.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 22.—That Canada's commercial treaty with France is not entirely satisfactory to this country is indicated in a statement given to the House of Commons by George E. Foster, minister of trade and commerce. The treaty has been in force three years, and last year Canada bought from France $9,000,000 more than it sold to that country. The statement was provoked by a resolution urging steps to increase the trade and it was shown that ever since the treaty was signed France has been raising the minimum tariff against Canada. This affects the volume of exports. Improved steamship service is now proposed as one means of stimulating trade.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Mrs. Joseph F. Sullivan, who on Wednesday received telegraph news of the critical illness of her mother, Mrs. Charles Blake of Portland, Maine, left on the first car Thursday morning, expecting to arrive in Portland at noon. Later in the day a telegram was received, announcing the death of Mrs. Blake. She had a number of relatives and connections by marriage in Newtown village and vicinity. Mrs. Sullivan will remain for the funeral at her former home, Jamestown Harbor.

Mr. William Abner Case of Little Compton, 78 years of age, was seized with a shock last week and died Monday. Al. his 10 children are living. Mrs. Betsey B. Anthony (Deborah) of this town, one of the number, has been with her father since he was first taken ill.

A number of social affairs scheduled for Thursday with one exception were prevented by the bad weather. The exception was a supper given by the Busy Bees in the vestry of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the evening. The pecuniary results were greatly lessened by the comparatively small attendance.

Mrs. George G. Brawley is visiting her nephew, Mr. Charles Manchester, Jr., in Providence.

A number of farmers began ploughing the first of the week, although it was quite a little frost in the ground. The frost was found to be out to the depth of 18 inches; below that it was as hard as ever.

The J. C. Whitridge houses have been torn down and carted away. Their removal has greatly increased the area and beauty of the sea view on "Sandy Point Farm."

Mr. F. D. Humphrey, lumber dealer, of Tiverton, had two loads sunk so deep in the mud on Mitchell's lane Wednesday, on their way to Mr. Van Ness's farm, that several teams were enlisted to help pull them out. The efforts were without avail and finally the lumber was unloaded and drawn into a near-by field, where it was still lying this morning.

The family of Mr. Manuel Carvaca are preparing to move to Newport, where Mr. Carvaca has obtained employment.

Mr. Edward B. Ayler, Jr., who has been in the employ of Tidsall Co. for about a year, is having his first vacation during that time and is spending it with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Ayler of Freeborn Street.

DIVIDED INTO SECTIONS.

he had written the First National Bank of Boston, which certifies the city notes. In regard to the $30,000 bond issue for the beach improvement, and the bank had given a price for printing the bonds, services of lawyer and circulars for advertising them, total $110. Mr. Taylor said the cost of the Mumford School bonds for the same amount was $137. On his recommendation the board voted to authorize him to have the First National Bank of Boston do the work.

Alderman Albro brought up the new lights authorized by the Council and not yet installed, and on his motion the alderman from the Fifth ward was instructed to see about the installation of the two new lights on Eastnor road, and the alderman from the Second ward the new lights on Ledyard place, Bliss road and Thurston avenue.

The board adjourned to meet Monday evening, when the matter of the collection of ashes will again come up, the board at the meeting last Monday having given Mr. Welch a week to see if he could do the work, and to sign the contract.

The committee of the aldermen on the lease of the beach met after the regular meeting of the board. It might have been called a meeting of the board, as every one was there.

It was decided to advertise in New York, Boston and Providence papers for bids on the lease, to be in by April 15. The term is for five years, with the privilege of a renewal for five more, and the bid may be for the whole or a part.

The beach, for the sake of giving every one a chance, is divided into 12 sections. No 1 includes all the bathing privileges and all the bathhouses, about 1,200 in number; section 2, the restaurant and the lunch counter privilege at the city pavilion; section 3, the merry-go-round house, with the privilege of running a merry-go-round to be supplied by the lessee; sections 4-10, inclusive are the small spaces on the board walk, suitable for small business, the nature of the business to be carried on to be stated; section 11 is the small candy house, and section 12 the photograph gallery.

The lessee of section 1 must provide the life guards, lifeboats and be responsible for the general care of the beach and of the toilet. Other lessees must care for their own premises.

It is expected that the plans and specifications for the improvements will be ready next Tuesday. Already some builders have been at the City Hall to look at the preliminary plans, to obtain some idea as to what it is proposed to do.

Crawford Ranges

When you "dump" your old fire do you dump it into an ash pan? And then strew the floor and the cellar stairs with ashes when you carry it away?

Wouldn't a deep Hod—big enough to hold the ashes, easy and cleanly to carry—be better?

Crawford Ranges have the Ash Hod. It catches all of the ashes and can be emptied without spilling. Same size as the Coal Hod beside it. This feature is patented andaonly Crawford Ranges have it.

The Single Damper (patented) and the Oven heated in all parts alike by the scientific Cup-Joint heat flues are other Crawford trouble and money savers. Send for the illustrated pamphlet.

THEIR DEMANDS REJECTED.

Prospects of Strike of Western Bituminous Miners.

CLEVELAND, March 21.—The prospect of a strike of 500,000 bituminous and anthracite miners in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois April 1 was brought nearer today by the action of the operators in rejecting the demands of 200,000 workers in the bituminous fields for an increase of 10 per cent in pay and shorter working hours.

As a final effort to prevent a prolonged shutdown of the mines after April 1, and possibly a strike, the whole dispute was then referred to a sub-committee. This sub-committee, composed of eight miners and eight operators, will consider the possibility of a compromise, to be recommended to the general conference.

Both operators and miners said after the union demands had been refused that the coal situation throughout the country was grave. Intimations were made by John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that the negotiations here might last until next Monday, when the union's policy committee will convene.

Besides the 200,000 miners in the four states directly concerned, 150,000 bituminous coal miners in other states are dependent upon the present deliberations for a basis for wage scale, and in addition the policy committee will consider the demands respecting wages of about 170,000 anthracite miners. It was pointed out by Mr. White that the wages of more than 500,000 union miners after April 1 were in dispute, and that the coal output of the country, other than that mined by none-union men was involved.

RUSHING THE WAGE BILL.

Asquith Puts Measure Through Second Reading by 123 Majority.

LONDON, March 21.—Arthur J. Balfour's motion for the rejection of the minimum wage bill was defeated and the government bill passed its second reading in the House of Commons tonight by a majority of 123—a larger majority than the Ministerialists themselves had hoped for. The vote stood 348 to 225. The Laborites and Nationalists voted with the government.

The debate on the bill was interesting and served to dissipate much alarm created by the announcement last night that the Unionists intended to oppose the passage of the measure. It is now evident that the Conservative leaders had no idea of upsetting the government, but that they merely desired to wash their hands of responsibility for the bill and had no wish to assume office themselves.

The debate showed that the Labor leaders were in a more reasonable mood. Although they tabled several amendments, one for the inclusion of their schedule of minimum wages, it is believed that they now will be satisfied with it and the government will be willing to concede the inclusion of the five shilling and two shilling minimum.

IN MONOPOLY CASE.

United Shoe Machinery Officials Denied a Re-Hearing.

BOSTON, March 21.—Judge Putnam of the United States district court denied today the petition of the five officers of the United Shoe Machinery Company for a re-hearing on the one count of the indictment charging a monopoly of the shoe machinery trade. This count is the only one of five sustained by Judge Putnam in an opinion handed down by him March 12, last. Today's action of the court means that the next step will be the trial of the case. The five defendants, Sidney W. Winslow, president of the company, and Elmer P. Howe, Edward P. Hurd, George W. Brown and William Barbour, officers, pleaded not guilty to the indictment a few days ago and each was held for trial in bonds of $10,000.

DEATH OF REAR ADMIRAL TRYON.

Rear Admiral James Rufus Tryon, (retired), former surgeon general of the navy, died in the naval hospital at Brooklyn, of a tumor. He was born in Coxsackie, N. Y., in 1837, was graduated from Union College, and entered the naval service as assistant surgeon in 1863.

After service in Washington and at sea for many years under the surgeon general, he was himself in 1893 made surgeon general and chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery. After retirement with the rank of rear admiral he was for six years in charge of the hospital at Sailors' Snug Harbor, Staten Island.

A gas well struck near Silver Creek, N. Y., is flowing at the rate of 3,000,000 feet a day. It is the biggest "gusher" ever struck in the western New York gas fields.

WAS IT A FAIR SALE?

the court. It was desired to show the state of Mr. Brow's mind, counsel said. The court declined to consider the state of Mr. Brow's mind.

Coming to the sale, witness wished to say that he considered the sale—but he was stopped and told his opinion was not desired; he could state what was done or said.

He said 300 people were at the sale, and many more were scattered about the farm. He should say it took 15 minutes to sell the farm. Saw Mr. Sweeney only bidding. "You wouldn't accuse him of bidding against himself?" He ain't built that way," said witness.

William N. Andrews, auctioneer for 15 years in Tiverton, real estate dealer, and formerly in stable business, testified. Received several telephone messages and arranged to meet Mr. Gray at the Wilbur House. He asked witness what he would ask to open the sale and come right away. Witness said if he went he should stay all day. Witness opened the sale. Mr. Gray said he hadn't the notice of the sale, but asked witness to deputize him as salesman and he would state the conditions of sale.

A few minutes after the real estate was sold Mr. Brow told witness—objected to, and not answered. Witness also had a talk with Mr. Gray, as they had not come to terms before the sale. This line was objected to and ruled out.

Witness said he has sold 90 per cent of the real estate in Tiverton. He was asked what would be a fair price for this real estate at auction, at the time in question. He said he should say $15,000 would be a fair price. He should say it took 12 to 15 minutes to knock the property down.

"Was that in your opinion a fair sale?"—"Well," said the court, "That's the question I've got to decide." After argument, the court said: "Questions excluded."

In cross-examination witness said Mr. Brow came to see him and asked him to open the sale. Witness was the only active auctioneer in Tiverton. He desired this sale for himself. Has been paid. Introduced Mr. Gray and stepped down; said in the crowd.

This is the best farm in Tiverton. Purchasers for such a farm are few. Has tried twice to sell a large farm and has not sold it yet. "How long have you been on the witness stand?" Witness said 15 to 18 minutes.

The court said "Mr. Gray sold under your license?" The witness said "yes." "Did you make any objection to his making this sale in 15 minutes?" "No sir." There were about 300 persons there.

At 4:45 the court adjourned to 9:30 a. m. Friday.

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 21.—The strike at the Scott colliery, operated by the Mineral Railroad & Mining Co., ended today, without the company discharging employes named by the United Mine Workers as objectionable to them. It is believed the union leaders, on account of the imminence of a general strike next month, advised the 800 Scott men to return to work.

KING'S PUREMALT

Is what you need to renew your tired nerves, to build up a strong digestion, promote restful sleep and reinvigorate you for your day's work. Collier's Weekly, in its issue of September 2, 1911, published an article entitled, "Here Are Foods That Are Pure," by Margaret Wagner. There was printed in this article, "A List From Which Housewives May Choose Without Doubt or Hesitancy." This list was the result of several years' analytical work by the pupils of the State Normal School at Westfield, Massachusetts, under the direction of Professor Lewis B. Allyn. KING'S PUREMALT is mentioned among the food products of absolute pure quality. The indorsement of this preparation and the publication of the article by Collier's Weekly was unsolicited by the manufacturers.
KING'S PUREMALT, with the addition of hypophosphites of iron and lime, is a medicinal tonic recognized for many years as a most dependable, strength-giving, body-building liquid food. Only the choicest materials are used in its manufacture. It is without equal and is recommended generally by physicians. KING'S PUREMALT is sold at all drug stores and in strict conformity with the Pure Food and Drugs Act of June 30, 1906. Send for prices.

ARRESTED AT LAMBSBURG.

Sidna Edwards, One of the Allen Gang, En Route to Hillsville.

HILLSVILLE, Va., March 22.—Sidna Edwards, nephew of Sidna Allen, and one of the Allen gang which took to the mountains after the court house assassinations here, was arrested today at Lambsburg, Va., without resistance, by a posse of detectives. Edwards is being brought here and is expected to arrive about 3 o'clock this afternoon. His capture leads to the belief that others of the mountaineers soon will be in custody.

Young Edwards was arrested by detectives Tom Foltz and W. W. Phautz, who had been in the mountains since last Tuesday. They found him wandering about aimlessly and hungry. His sore foot had troubled him greatly and it is believed that he was unable to keep up with the swift changes of base made by the other fugitives. Edwards will be put through a rigid third degree examination, but there is little thought that he will disclose the movements of his kinsmen.

Sidna Edwards is 22 years old and a splendid type of the young mountaineer. He stands six feet in height, weighs about 180 pounds, has dark hair and blue eyes. At first a reward of only $300 was offered for his capture, but after the thorough investigation made by state authorities as to his participation in the shooting Governor Mann increased the amount to $1,000, the same as offered for the capture, dead or alive, of Sidna Allen, leader of the clan.

Edwards reached Hillsville in the custody of detectives this afternoon and was placed in jail. He would make no statement.

WILL NOT VOTE FOR HARMON.

Bryan to File Resignation if Elected a Delegate in Nebraska.

KEARNEY, Neb., March 22.—In his speech at a Democratic banquet here last night William J. Bryan said if the preferential Presidential vote at the coming primary in Nebraska is for Governor Harmon and he (Bryan) is elected one of the delegates at large he will file his resignation at once. He said he would not go to the convention at Baltimore to vote for Harmon, who, he charged, was backed by the Morgan and Hill interests. Mr. Bryan praised La Follette and criticised Taft and Roosevelt.

BATTLE RAGING IN PARAGUAY.

Entrenched Points Taken and Re-Taken Several Times.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, March 22.—A fierce battle between revolutionaries and the government forces in Paraguay has been going on for some time and is still raging, according to telegrams received here from Asuncion today. Many changes have occurred in the positions of the two forces, entrenched points having been taken and re-taken several times. Some of the battalions engaged have been decimated, according to the report.

VOYAGE WITHOUT INCIDENT.

Secretary of State Knox Expected at La Guaira, Venezuela, Today.

ON BOARD UNITED STATES CRUISER WASHINGTON, by wireless, via Santiago de Los Caballeros, March 22.—Secretary of State Knox is expected to arrive at La Guaira, Venezuela, today and will immediately proceed to Caracas. The voyage has been without incident and the members of the party are all in good health.

CARACAS GAYLY DECORATED.

Great Preparations in Honor of Secretary Knox's Visit.

CARACAS, March 22.—The city is splendidly decorated in expectation of Secretary of State Knox's arrival today. A large triumphal arch has been erected and flags are flying everywhere. The Venezuela government has issued a decree making today and tomorrow official holidays.

PREMIER TANG AT SHANGHAI.

Make Up of Cabinet Not to be Known Until Submitted to Assembly.

SHANGHAI, March 22.—Premier Tang Shao Yi arrived here today from Pekin and was met on the quay by a guard of honor of Chinese troops. He was escorted to his hotel by detachments of French and British police. The premier will probably leave for Nankin tomorrow. No official announcement concerning the construction of the cabinet will be made prior to its submission for the approval of the National Assembly at Nankin.

Premier Tang Shao Yi, in the course of an interview today with The Associated Press, said:

"I understand that, since I left Pekin, accusations have been freely published that I had been guilty of breaches of the agreement in connection with the recent loan negotiations. Up to the time of our leaving Pekin no such charge had been made against me in any responsible quarter. No such suggestion was even indirectly conveyed. Therefore, I do not desire to make an official statement, but emphatically repudiate any charge of bad faith, which I will be prepared to meet when it is brought by any responsible parties."

The delegates accompanying the premier state that some of the reports of the outbreak in Pekin, February 29, were greatly exaggerated and declare that there will be no further trouble in the province of Shen Si. While sporadic outbreaks are probable, the delegates appear confident that complete order will be restored. One delegate, who is a Yale graduate, described the outbreak in Pekin as "rough house."

DR. ELIOT GOES TO CANTON.

Standard Oil Puts In Claim for Damages During Swatow Attack.

HONG KONG, China, March 22.—During the fighting at Swatow the Standard Oil tanks and warehouses were struck frequently by rifle bullets. The Standard Oil Company, which has its headquarters here, has put in a claim for 1,000,000 taels (about $700,000) for damage done to its property during the course of the fighting at Hankow. The commander of United States Monitor Monterey when it was reported to him that American property had been damaged at Swatow, landed a party of men. He informed the leaders of the Chinese troops that he did not wish to dictate to them where they should fight battles between themselves in their own country, but informed them that he was prepared to protect American property. The Chinese promised him that they would put a stop to the burning and looting.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University who is now here, is proceeding to Canton, Pekin and Hankow.

IN A MELTING MOOD.

Nature, After a Hard Freeze During the Night, Softens Up Things With the Sun's Aid.

For a time Thursday night it looked as though it might rain. There was a drizzle in the air and a dampness on the cleared sidewalks, and the thermometer hovered about 28, but it did not rain. Instead, the wind shifted to northwest, it cleared and became colder, and this morning everything was frozen. The city men were out with gravel for the crossings and there was no shoveling; things were too hard. When the sun did its work, however, nature became more melting and the water ran and the snow disappeared. Broadway was a combination of streams and mill ponds, especially opposite the City Hall, until some of the enterprising youths in the near-by stores cleared the gutters and allowed the water to flow. The city men came out after dinner and began clearing the gutters where necessary. A plow was used on Thames street, the work was done in record time and the water at once made its escape.

The snow, sleet and other material which fell in this last snowstorm totalled .41 of an inch in water, when melted at the pumping station. This brought the total precipitation, rain and melted snow, for March up to 5.79 inches, which makes it anything but a dry month.

Many forgot there was snow, and a sidewalk beneath, in front of their homes and shops this morning when the melting began and the result was pretty soft walking in many places. Others with energy and enterprise had cleared their walks Thursday and had nothing to do except wet their feet in their neighbors' snow.

Noon—Union Pacific was the feature of the second hour, advancing to 170⅝ on heavy dealings. Lehigh Valley sold above yesterday's best and Reading, too, was strong. The demand broadened, embracing many of the equipment issues, with a further strengthening of coppers and kindred stocks. Amalgamated Copper established a new high record for the movement as did also National Lead and American Smelting. The advance in the latter is said to have been at the expense of a large short interest. Features of some importance in the general rise included International Harvester, Western Union and Westinghouse Electric. In all, over a score of stocks were up from 1 to almost 3 points before noon. Money on call steady at 2½ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $317,102,377; balances $15,584,309.

POWWOW OF TROOP 3.

Boy Scouts Talk Over Plans for Attack and Defense of Hanging Rocks Headquarters.

Troop 3 of Newport, Boy Scouts of America, following the example of the other two Newport troops, held an anniversary "powwow" at the O. A. W. C. rooms Thursday evening. It was as great a success as the other two and all the scouts had a good time. The committee in charge consisted of Scouts Matson, Wood, Hildreth, Bliss, Townsend and Jackson. The guests were Scout Commissioner Gatzenmeier, and Scout Masters Powers and Hoar. Talks were given the scouts, and they also entertained each other. The troop consists of the Wolf, Wood Pigeon and Panther patrols, and many of the members received their one-year service stripes.

Troop 3 is to combine with Troop 2 Saturday, when they will defend the headquarters at the Hanging Rocks from Troop 1, which will try to enter without being detected. Each scout which goes in will count five points for his troop, and each who is caught five points in favor of the defenders. The scouts talked over plans for preventing the enemy from entering the headquarters boundaries.

STONE BRIDGE ALL RIGHT.

New York Expert Pronounces It as Safe as When Accepted by the Commission.

A bridge expert from New York examined the Rhode Island Stone Bridge this week and expresses the opinion that there is no reason other than a political one why the bridge should not be opened to the full use for which it was intended. There has been a slight settlement, according to his sighting of levels, but no more than is to be expected in any new construction of the kind. As to slipping of any of the piers, he says there has been nothing of the kind, and in his opinion the bridge is as good as the day it was accepted by the commissioners. In his opinion if the bridge is as dangerous as it is represented to be it should be closed to all vehicular travel instead of simply to the cars.

"BABY MINE" COMING.

Has Kept New York Laughing for a Year and Is Still Amusing the London People.

Margaret Mayo's comedy "Baby Mine," which kept New York in laughter for a year at Daly's Theatre, and which, although in its second year in London, is still amusing our English cousins at the Vaudeville Theatre, will be the next attraction at the Opera House, coming under the direction of William A. Brady (Limited). "Baby Mine" is all about a silly little wife and a foolish young husband. The two quarrel and finally separate in anger, but at the end of several months the young wife can endure her loneliness no longer and the difficulty is settled. The play is brimming with healthy, wholesome comedy, and is a tonic for old and young, a stimulant for people in every walk of life.

The demand for "Baby Mine" comes from all parts of the world. Performances will soon be given in Paris, Berlin, Vienna, Madrid, St. Petersburg and other continental cities. The Japanese rights have been secured, and negotiations are practically completed for its production in South Africa, South America and Australia. In the company which will be seen here are such well known metropolitan favorites as Benedict MacQuarrie, John J. McCabe, Robert Collins, F. O. Benson, George H. Harris, Nanon Welch, Eda von Beulow, May Freund and Evelyn May.
